

Text Entry SAAS System

SAAS Creation Tool

Date Field

This is where you can enter your preferences and they will be loaded in the system, thus you're commencing to build out your SAAS System right here. We are looking at a project starting at the desired end-game, or where you want to end up, the desired results. So we're effectively "Reverse Engineering" the processes to accomplish your result.

Below I want you to list that end result in the first text field. Then list a few of the major mile posts you will need to pass to end up there. These should be major objectives, only four in total. If you get inspired add additional objectives or define a road map in the large format text area. Heck use your speech to text and prescribe those mileposts successively going back to the where you are now.

Or, if your project is outward looking, list the high ticket product or service that you want a premium customer to be in at the end of your sales funnel, and then list several upsells that will nurture that outcome. Go ahead and list them now!
